Does this refer to initial and/or annual training? What does "shall provide" mean?	J) Absolutely appailed at the requirement to take the solution appears to be in HA's every time they move to PCH admin. Also 40 hours appears to be in	conflict with b above. (e) Direct care home staff 24 hours annual: CNA's in skilled nursing facilities are only required 12 hours of annual training. Why is more required in personal care	when the acuity of the residents should be much less? (f) shall include but not limited to sounds mandatory - should be worded as	recommended topics A comprehensive staff training plan as shown here will require each facility to have a designated staff development person, which would incur cost of $45,000	annual. Recommend strike entire section. Much too comprehensive for assisted living.		in the second se	Add "for new construction or renovations offity.						(b) Does this preclude resident pets?(d) covered trash cans will incur a huge cost to the industry and in areas where there is a county health department, why should we exceed code? Also resident ease of use with a covered trash

OFFICE OF LICENSING

Deborah Stevens, Administrator and Owner Evergreen Assisted Living, INC. 141 Evergreen Avenue, Pittsburgh PA 15209

October 20, 2002

Teleta Nevius, Director Office License and Regulatory Management
Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare
Room 316 Health and Welfare Building P.O. Box 2675
Harrisburg, PA 17120

Dear Ms. Nevius:

Qualifications for Administrators. 2600.53 (1),(2),(3),(4). Proposed regs require an administrator to be a nurse or a nursing home administrator. DPW dictates very strict standards regarding the level of care a personal care home can provide. Residents who exceed these standards must be placed in a higher level of care, i.e. a nursing home. Therefore, it is clear that the needs of a personal care home resident are much less than in a nursing home. Why is such a medical background necessary? Or why would a nursing home administrator run a personal care home? They are not the same thing. A personal care home is not a nursing home nor a hospital. The proposed regs also require an administrator to have a college degree. The proposed increase in administrator training and orientation is an improvement over current requirements and will improve the health, safety and welfare of the residents and thus will negate the proposed requirements. My home is a small, family owned business and I would not be able to pass it on to my sons, who live daily with the experience of running a personal care home. Proposed regulations discriminate against family businesses and small businesses. Again, proposed improvements in training and internships for administrators is sufficient. (I happen to have a master degree in clinical psychology and it didn't help me very much in learning how to operate a personal care home and it doesn't have much to do with my values about how to treat other people).

Medication Administration.2600.181 (b) (c) (d) (e); 2600.182 (d); 2600.186 (b) (2,3,6,) (d) Currently, personal care home staff can assist residents with their medications. The proposed regulations state that unless the resident knows and understands everything about his or her medications (including side effects, contra indications, drug interactions), they no longer qualify for assistance, but need administration of medication by a licensed nurse. This is ridiculous - expecting a personal care home resident to be as knowledgeable about medication as a pharmacist! I personally take 2 prescribed medications. I probably don't know as much about my medications as I could, however, I trust my physician and my pharmacist. Personal care home residents have physicians and pharmacists too! The need for a nurse indicates that personal care is an inadequate level of care. You just try to get someone optioned into a nursing home just because they don't understand something about one of their medications! They would not be eligible for nursing care under the DPW and Department of Aging criteria. The personal care home industry as a whole is very adamant about the need for a medication aide bill which would allow certain trained personal care home staff to assist personal care home residents with their medication. State sponsored medication training programs are utilized in other group home settings (i.e. mental retardation homes with residents who I am sure do not know as much about their medication as what DPW expects personal care home residents to know). This would be appropriate and adequate for personal care home staff. People being care for in their own home have their medication monitored by social service and private home health agency staff who are not nurses.

Direct Care Staff Training. 2600.58 (c) (e); 24 hours per year of training is proposed and new staff may not interact with residents until they have had their first 24 hours of training (all at once!) The annual training requirement for nursing home aides is 10 hours and for hospital aides only 8.

Again, the proposed regs for personal care homes exceed standards for other healthcare industries. On the job training is not given any credence even though it is an integral part of staff training and orientation in hospitals and nursing homes! How are new staff to learn their job without any interaction with the residents? What about new staff with years of experience? At the meetings between providers and DPW staff, 12 hours was agreed to. At least, that is what we were assured by your office. Most homes, in addition to the current required training, require approximately 40 hours per week on the job training before a staff person would ever work independently with a resident. By the way, a nursing home administrator is required to obtain 48 hours training (equal to a personal care home aide!) only the nursing home administrator has 2 years to obtain the hours.

New paperwork. 2600.27(a) (b) (c); 2600.59; 2600.60; 2600.16 (b);2600.26 (iii) (ii) 2600.201 (b):2600.223 (a) (b). I would like to know why the current screening instrument is not sufficient. DPW is proposing yet a second and third screening instrument on each resident. Why? It is redundant. The same applies to the "Care Plan". DPW is again attempting to turn personal care into mini nursing homes. What if the resident doesn't want the items addressed in the state-dictated care plan? Who is going to pay for the services required in the Care Plan? The demands of these new requirements are excessive and inappropriate to the small personal care home.

Safe Management Techniques. 2600.201(b) I would like to know if this means that I have to keep a resident in my home that creates chaos and makes the other residents uncomfortable or frightened? A personal care home is a home, not an institution. These regulations are not necessary and are inappropriate in a personal care home setting.

DPW and the Office of Licensing and Regulatory Management has ignored the knowledge and experience of hundreds of personal care home owners and administrators, including myself. Department staff has been deceptive in allowing me to believe that I had some stake in how my industry is regulated and that I deserved a fair hearing. I feel like my residents as well as myself are being punished for the Department's failure. I am asking that the proposed regulations 2600 be stopped. They are unacceptable in current form and they jeopardize my business and my residents. If DPW would enforce the current regulations, this would be sufficient in correcting the wrongs that are being done by a very small percentage of personal care homes. Meanwhile, reasonable and acceptable changes could be made to the existing regulations that would benefit everyone involved, including my residents and myself. Any changes need to allow me the opportunity to continue to operate my small business in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and afford my residents the choice to remain in their home. Thank you.

Very truly yours,

Deborah Stevens, President

Dear Fellow Republican

10-20-02

Last weekleceived a letter in the mail, requesting my continued support for the Republican team of "Fisher and Earll". They promised better government and Lower taxes. This caused me to reflect on the first two years of the Bush administration and I found my taxes had almost doubled in the last two years. Since I am retired and depend on Social Security for my income, this represented quite an increase. Then I recalled Mr. Bush had spent fifty billion dollars of Social Security funds placing that system in peril. The Stock Market has crashed and lost trillions of dollars for investors, the economy is sagging and unemployment is rising, this is no time for disunity in the party.

Now, I have five brothers who have all served in the military and one of my brothers is living in an assisted care home named "The Colonial Manor", this is an excellant facility but the increased cost to the home brought about by the new suggested legislation, may make it impossible for him to live there. This means he would have to go back to the V.A. hospital. I cannot support the Republican Party or any party that backs this legislation and I will work to influence my family, my friends, and my neighbors to support my point of view.

I urge you not to back this new legislation, and to help restore unity in the Republican Party at a time when it desperately needs it.

Yours Truly,

William P. Remy 814-437-6599

Teleta Nevius, Director
Department of Public Welfare
Room 316 Health and Welfare Building
P.O. Box 2675
Harrisburg, Pa 17120

Dear Teleta Nevis,

Well, here we are again, poised to commit an act without thinking it through. How many times have we personally done this? I for one, freely admit to having done a few things without clearly thinking about all the possible outcomes. Every time that this has occurred I ended up paying a substantial price for my lack of judgment.

Today, you are proposing to enact a new set of Personal Care Home regulations. I am sure that these regulations are well intended, and that their goal is ultimately to improve the lives of personal care home residents. Most laws are passed with this goal in mind. Sometimes, honorably intentioned laws and regulations cause serious harm to their intended beneficiaries.

Let us look back at a well-intentioned law whose negative legacy remains with us today. The prohibition act of 1918 was passed to protect our citizenry from the evils of drink. Who could argue with the desirability of this? Unfortunately, the U.S. citizenry did not wish to be protected from the evils of drink. The criminal element took advantage of an excellent business opportunity which provided the cash flow to sustain it through today's far reaching diversification.

Ordinary citizens became law breakers merely because they consumed beverages which were no longer legal to consume.

Your well-intentioned regulations could produce a similar result with regard to the personal care home industry. Personal care home residents and their families currently embrace the concept of personal care homes with positive attitudes. The relaxed casual atmospheres of personal care homes are a favorable contrast to the generally accepted perception and fact that nursing homes are cold, functional institutions whose only saving grace comes from the warmth and charm exuded by some of the staff. Extreme regulations, whose implementation can only be proved through pounds of paperwork and endless time spent in meetings, which of course must be documented, occupy more staff hours than patient care. Department of Health Inspectors, whose jobs are to insure that nursing home patients are receiving proper care, spend most of their inspection time reading the facility produced pounds of paperwork that are designed, to prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that good patient care is being provided.

Yes, some inspection time is spent with patients and their families, but most of the annual inspection survey is spent inspecting paperwork. I do not know if anyone has taken the time to figure out how much this paperwork costs per pound, but you can be assured that this cost is born by residents and government through high par diem rates.

The Department of Public Welfare has proposed a set of excellent sounding, well-intentioned personal care home regulations. The problem is that they are excessive. Personal care home residents do not need the level of expertise that would be achieved with the implementation of the new regulations. Improved qualifications and increase training for personal care home administrators and staff are great ideas, but who is going to pay for them. Piles of documentation about each personal care home resident will not reflect better care but rather that someone has been hired to produce good paperwork. As in the nursing home licensing process, licensing representatives will spend most of their inspection time, inspecting paperwork. They will need to be trained in this endeavor probably by Department of Health employees who are the most qualified to do this training.

There are many other areas in the new personal care home regulations that I could address, but the bottom line is this, they are overkill! And kill is exactly what they are going to do to the personal care home industry.

Based on my experience in this area, I would estimate that within three years of the implementation of the new personal care home regulations, forty percent of existing personal care homes will close. They will close because they will not be able to afford the cost of meeting the new regulatory requirements. Facilities providing care to SSI residents will be the first to close. They will be soon followed by homes serving low income private pay residents.

Where will all the discharged residents go?

Some will enter nursing homes, under medical assistance. Some might return home with family members. The vast majority, however, will disappear from the public radar screen and reside in unlicenced boot leg facilities. Life will go on and the public wrongly will believe that your department along with our elected officials have solved all the problems plaguing personal care homes.

Personal care homes currently operate under an adequate set of regulations. Most of today's problems can be resolved if licencing representatives would be permitted to do their jobs as prescribed by law.

Please, stop and think about all the negative outcomes that will occur as a result of the good intentioned regulations you are considering. I am sure that if those who passed the prohibition act of 1918 had realized what the next fifteen years were going to produce, there would never have been an eighteenth amendment.

Sincerely,

Ray McMurdy

Enclosed you will find 27 letters from residents at Evergreen Assistsed Living, a 30 bed personal care home in Millvale, close to Pittsburgh. When informed about the threats inherent in the newly proposed personal care home regulations, they wanted to write to people and have their voices be heard. These 27 letters were dictated to staff at Evergreen and are to be read and hopefully responded to. Thank you.

Evergreen currently has 3 empty beds. Out of the above 27 persons, all but two are on SSI. The other two don't make very much more per month. All 27 of these individuals are residents of Pennsylvania and have been all their lives. Unfortunately, they are not able to take care of themselves and live independently. Most of them have failed repeatedly at independent living. They are not nursing home candidates. Most of them are not even 50 years old yet. Most of these folks have a mental illness and several are also mentally retarded. They may never qualify for nursing home. They do not need nursing care. They are happy where they live. Many of them have lived at Evergreen for several years. Evergreen is their home. It is not an institution. They would all like to know the reason why they might not have a home in the future. They each would like a response from the Department of Welfare and the Office of Licensing and Regulatory Management. They want to know if the Department is going to be able to prevent them from going to an institution if the new regulations make it too expensive for Evergreen to stay open. They like living in a smaller home. They cannot afford any increase in rent because of the source of their income, which is fixed. They have no assets beyond their clothing. They represent several thousand personal care home residents in Pennsylvania who are facing the same potential crisis. It is within the power of our state government to prevent this tragedy. It will create homelessness and institutionalization among this population. With one voice, they are asking for the proposed personal care home regulations to be stopped because they are excessive and unreasonable. If the SSI supplement cannot be increased beyond 2$ a day (which didn't cover the increase in the cost of their toilet paper and shampoo) they at least want reasonable changes made by reasonable, knowledgeable people. They want the current proposed regulations stopped.
