

Kupchinsky, John

From: AMannSr@donsco.com
Sent: Sunday, July 17, 2005 10:39 AM
To: JKupchinsk@state.pa.us
Subject: New worker compensation regulations

In response to a request for comments on proposed rule changes.

First, I am curious as to what problems the new regulations are designed to solve. Adding more forms to the over 100 now in play is the wrong approach and signifies a lack of hard thinking about the entire system. The proposal adds cost and complexity and achieves what?

Shouldn't we be simplifying the process?

Second, our governor and his staff are working hard to attract industry to Pennsylvania faster than it is leaving. How does this change help Donsco or any other manufacturer become more competitive in a global marketplace?

If you want to deal with a known problem within the WC system, work on improving the competence of the WC hearing judges.

Art Mann

LABOR & INDUSTRY
2005 JUL 26 P 12:55
BUREAU OF WORKERS' COMP
LEGAL DIVISION

2005 JUL 29 AM 8:47