INDEPENDENT REGULATORY REVIEW COMMISSION

Dear Ms. Bender,

1/6/07

I own a little dog, his name is Cookie, his brothers win ribbons at shows but he is just a pet and I love him dearly. I make dog fashions and he has many outfits. He is getting old now, but is still healthy and has a wonderful personality. When I talked to the people who bred him they said that if this new proposed regulation is law they may have to close their kennel because they can't afford to make all of the changes that are required and can't afford to hire extra help to do all of the extra work and record keeping that is required. Their place is a wonderful home for the dogs. I don't see why Mr Rendell is trying to put them out of business. I think you are being used for his politics and not for the good of dogs.

I love my Cookie and when he passes I would like to get another dog like him. I want a custom made puppy not a mass produced off the rack puppy. If the good breeders are driven from the area where will I get another Cookie?

Pleas get rid of this proposal. Don't let one man's political ambition determine the next dog I will be able to buy.

Sincerely,

Margo Ventura
