Dear Ms. Bender,

As residents and animal advocates, we applaud the steps recent taken by the Dog Law Advisory Board to update the old and poor regulations that made thousands of animals suffer horrible abuse in Pa. On a daily basis.

The new regulations introduced December,2006, are practical and enforceable. They will greatly improve(somewhat) the animals quality of life for many of the animals. The breeder's opposing the new regulations do not have the animals interests at heart. They are in it for the money only. Animals are God's creatures. They are not here to abuse. They deserve a comfortable life-not living in cages for the greedy breeders to make a living off their abuse.

We volunteer at our local shelter and see first hand the condition of the animals after breeding. It is horrible .We have seen what happens to a dog after a couple of months living in a cage at the shelter.. (Imagine years of living in a cage.)We feel all breeders should be closed down and the real emphasis should be placed on adoptions from shelters and rescue groups. As of now, it is a vicious cycle. The breeders breed- the animals are disposed of- the shelters are over run and millions are put to sleep. The only winners here are the breeders lining their pockets .This has been going on for too many years and now is the time to stop animal abuse.

We are currently selling our Pa property as it is such an embarrassment to us to say that we live in the Puppy Mill Capital of the east.

Please continue to stamp out the mills.

Sincerely,
Mr & Mrs Fiducioso
