Dear Ms. Bender,

I understand from the organization United Against Puppy Mills that now is a time to be heard. I urge you to do what you can to make life worth living for the dogs that are imprisoned in those puppy mills.

Specifically, I am very concerned by their almost constant confinement. I am also concerned about the too small cages that imprison them. And, I fear that some owners will tie the dogs in order to get around the cage requirements. We also need more dog wardens to monitor these places, and impose penalties that will make puppy mills unprofitable..

Please help these lovely animals, and set them free from such a terrible , cruel life.

Sincerely,

Camilla Kasales
