Dear Sirs

It seems to me you spend more time worrying about dogs than wild animals. Every avenue is taken to protect dogs from harm while you ignore Pennsylvania's wildlife.

My next door neighbor lets their dog run when ever the spirit moves them, chasing deer or any other wild animal ,it barks incessantly all day long, leaves its scat on my property. I can do nothing to deter these people or their pet. I have five acres and no pets; they have an acre and the use of my five acres although I do not want their dog on my property. I just want the deer ,opossums, skunks, raccoons, squirrels and other wildlife.

Our wildlife like the American Indians were here first; they deserve our protection!

Sincerely,

Marie Serfas
