Dear Mr. Buckheit,

I'm writing in regards to the new Special needs would be. We can almost bill in which you are thinking of passing, run the classrooms by ourselves. I've Chapter 14. I think that by passing it, been told by many teacher, mainstream there would be a big dishonor to all the included, that they couldn't do it para professionals in Pennsylvania. I've been without our help. We've all been trained one for 13 years. We all had to do the in many areas, and I believe that workshops and take courses to get a the best experience is "hands on". certifiante to become highly qualified. Because when you come up against a This new law would put a big strain and certain situation you don't have time to a big financial burden on alot of us if refer to a book, but you must respond we had to go back to school to get a to it and be a quick thinker. So please BA degree. I believe with all of our consider not putting a bigger strain training, which we are given by the I.U.'s, on the paraprofessionals. Thank you and all of our experiences with the for your time and consideration. children and situations, you couldn't find a better group of qualified people.

I'm sure that we all support the teacher's in the classrooms. I know
