Subject: Mortgage And Sub Prime

Message:
How is Pennsylvania regulating companies such as Citi and Country Wide - and all of the other lenders who gave credit to those whom did not deserve or could not repay those credit lines / loans? Doesn't PA review Banks and their lending habits? Was someone asleep at the wheel? What does the Pennsylvania Department of Banking actually do? I ask because I am not a 'Sub-Primer' who is looking for help, however, I feel for those folks and cannot imagine this mess will correct itself without some tax dollars spent on this issue, which, in my opinion should have been prevented. I love living here in PA, always have and hopefully always will - I just have seen no headlines or news clippings regarding this matter...and am a bit disappointed. Thank you, Jared Alexander
