Not every trucker can afford to buy an apu. I challenge a person to spend a night in a truck when it is 40 or 75(and muggy with mosquitos). Then there is the safety issue in some areas with the windows down that is not safe at all especially from a woman's point of view. Want to see tired truckers? Trying to sleep in those conditions is almost impossible but then it seems we aren't considered people just a group of nameless, faceless truck drivers.
