RE: Idling reduction regulation

Dear Board Members -

Stop picking on truckers! 5 minutes per hour is insane, especially at weather extremes. If the trucker is to be resting then he/she needs to be comfortable - not freeze nor heat stroke.

If you really want to conserve fuel and clean the air - ban all the drive-thrus! 99% of the people who go through them need more exercise anyway - Fast food and banks are the worst offenders - We never used to need drive-thrus and we don't need them now. Business wouldn't be harmed if a law applied to all drive-thrus.

It is the Four wheelers who are the worst offenders of polluting the air. They are lazy and too self-centered to think of future generations in their actions or lack there of. Greater use of trains would conserve fuel and clean the air. So don't just pick on the truckers - everyone has a stake in the future of our planet.

Sincerely yours
Susan E. Wootton
