(regarding diesel idling) a diesel engine will not start to make heat in 5 minutes let alone heat a cab & sleeper. I do not know if you turn the heat & air conditioning in your home & office I would find it hard to believe you do. this turns into a safety issue when a person can not rest properly because of uncomfortable temperatures. I hope it is not my wife & kids or mother & father that gets run over by a tired truck driver that did not sleep well from being too hot or cold. think hard about it we all potently have a lot to loose

Please contact me if you have any questions.
