I would like to submit a public comment regarding the above referenced regulation, specifically, Section 2800.53. These qualifications listed will cause tremendous hardship on Assisted Living Facility Administrators that do not meet the criteria listed. I know many people in this very position that are not nurses and do not have a college degree. Where is the grandfather clause for someone who has been doing this job and is of the age where going back to school is not a feasible option?

I feel if you looked at these guidelines again you would see that there needs to be a clause for employees already in this position that are doing a great job and have no means of going back to school.

Please take careful consideration to what I have written. I feel that you would do a disservice to the industry as a whole if you displaced hardworking, conscientious individuals that are doing a wonderful job. They care about the people and have experience which is invaluable. So much more than any college degree. Thank you so much for your time and attention in this very important matter.

Sincerely,

Dana Rider
