Subject: proposed raw milk regulations

Message:

Dear IRRC, I am a resident of the state of New Jersey and make rather lengthy pilgrimages to Lancaster County several times a year for the express purpose of buying raw cow milk and raw goats milk (also spending the night with lodging, eating in restaurants, i.e. spending my money in Pennsylvania). Mind you I don't mind the trip as you have a very beautiful state, however in the absence of these vendors for the raw milk products I might reconsider the effort; It is a two and a half hour trip after all. I understand that you are not shutting anyone down however if a deluge of regulation has the end result of doing the same thing a great harm will have been done. We are hearing reports out of Washington that the intended purpose of the recent health care overhaul was in the end years down line to in effect destroy the private insurance companies via the route over regulation and strangulation. Please do not play games with the consumer. I am an intelligent consumer. I will not admit to know everything on this subject but I have done enough reading to appreciate the benefits of raw milk. I brought a friend of mine, also a fellow New Jersey resident on one of these jaunts to Pennsylvania and in trying the raw milk he could not believe how good he felt after drinking it as he could not tolerate or digest properly milk sold in supermarkets and thus avoided it completely. So I urge you go easy on these farmers. Respectfully, Paul Bazikian
