Dear Irrc,

This is a concern for the regulations on dog law, note for things we can work with! as we want to be law-abiding citizens.

2010 AUG - 5 A 9:12

On concerning the Commercial Kennel Canine Health Regulations Chapter 28A, the measuring devices that are to be installed to measure humidity, temperature & etc.

These devices are stated to be property of the Dept of Ag. and shall (this should) require a signed agreement between the property owner of the Kennel facility and the department, also there should be a certification of accuracy similar to the weights and measure that are used in sales, last but not least placement of such a device infringes on the 4th Amendment.

The animal activists stories are often not true, the more I read the more I see that these laws are not for the well-being of the dogs, sorry to say it is more about trying to put a small family Kennel out of business regardless how well it is kept.
