Subject: Upcoming review of Dog Law

Message:

I am writing to ask that you reject the proposed changes being presenting by Secretary of Agriculture Russell Redding regarding the law passed as Act 119 of 2008, otherwise known as the "Dog Law." A vote by your commission is apparently scheduled for August 19, 2010. It is very disturbing to me that there is a possibility that an unelected official, the Secretary, can gut legislation that has already been passed in 2008 by the legislature as the will of the people. If this is allowed to happen, the reversal of key provisions of this law will further erode public confidence in the political process, and lead to deepening cynicism that degrades the fabric of our society. The reversal of this law would also lead to the continuation of the needless suffering of a species that humans have purposely bred to be socially sensitive and responsive. Please preserve Act 119 of 2008, and thus require the puppy mill lobby to attempt changes to the law within a truly public forum of the legislative process. Please do not allow yourselves to be used by these people who would continue the horrific squalor that exists in these puppy mills. Please make them angry by doing the right thing. Thank you in advance for considering these thoughts.
