

Steve M. Stoikefus
362 Schoeffer Lane Rd,
Gap, Pa. 17527

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

2785

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

Erna J. Weaver Erna J. Weaver

Vera Cruz Kennel
266 Vera Cruz Rd
Reinholds, PA 17569

Raymond L. Zimmerman
1008 W Quarry Rd.
New Holland, PA 17557

Honorable Kim Kaufman
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Executive Director Kaufman,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

Mike Dellavechia
Country View Kennel
176 Springville Rod
Kinzers, PA 17535

Marlin N. Zimmerman
300 East Black Creek Rd.
East Earl, PA 17519

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

Please

James S. Zimmerman
84 Hickory Lane
Ephrata, PA 17522

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

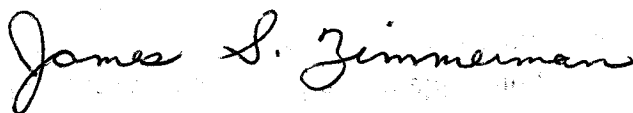

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "James S. Zimmerman". The ink is dark and the signature is fluid and legible.

David S. Zimmerman Jr.
360 Peach Rd.
Ephrata, PA 17522

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

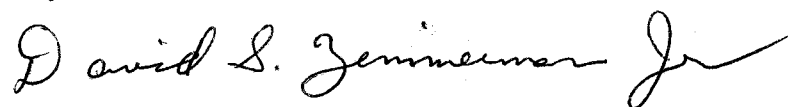

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "David S. Zimmerman Jr." The signature is written in black ink and is positioned below the word "Sincerely,".

Marvin W. Zimmerman
1551 Weaverland Rd.
East Earl, PA 17519

Honorable Nancy Frantz
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Commissioner Frantz,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

Amos Blank
254 Mascot Road
Ronks, PA 17572

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

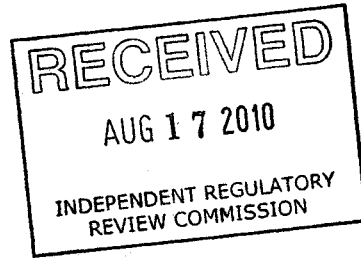

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "Jessie & Beiler".

Jessie & Beiler

492 Hill Rd
Honey Brook, PA 19344

2785

John R. Zimmerman
1087 Silver Hill Rd.
Narvan, PA 17555

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

John R. Zimmerman

AMOS W. ZIMMERMAN
937 GLENWOOD DRIVE
EPHRATA, PA. 17522

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Departments authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

Raymond L. Zimmerman
1008 W Quarry Rd.
New Holland, PA 17557

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Departments authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

Martha B. Wenger

MARTHA B. WENGER
445 S. FAIRMOUNT Rd
Ephrata PA 17522

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

Elam Beiler

537 Eby Chiques Rd
Mount Joy, PA 17552

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 12, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

I am writing this letter to express my concern over the Proposed Regulation in the 7 PA Code, Chapter 28a. I am hoping you will encourage the IRRC to vote against this proposal in order to save many quality kennels, which during these rough economical times, are experiencing financial difficulties. It is my belief that the Department of Agriculture has grossly underestimated the true cost of engineering, design, climate control equipment and installation, maintenance, and energy costs for our kennels to comply with the Canine Health Board's new "final form" minimum standards.

HVAC engineers have concluded that the energy cost alone will cost more than our kennel's annual profits in attempting to comply with the department's final form of regulations. As kennel owners struggle to maintain quality facilities, we are faced with sure destruction of our businesses if we are unable to financially meet the high cost of bringing our facility up to the newly proposed standards.

We are always searching for ways to improve kennel conditions, but I believe that the regulations proposed for Act 119 are cost prohibitive. Veterinarian experts have even concluded that the proposed new Heat Index maximums coupled with the air flow minimum standards will result in almost a 100% mortality rate of newborn puppies in commercial kennels. Needless to say, as a member of the breeders' community, I feel compelled to ask you to vote against this proposed regulation code and to reconsider the regulations contained therein.

Sincerely,

Elam Beiler
113 Horseshoe Road
Leola, PA 17540

David W. Zimmerman
1512 Weaverland RD.
East Earl, PA. 17519

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

David W. Zimmerman

Honorable Arthur Coccodrilli
333 Market Street, 14th Floor
Harrisburg, PA 17101

August 14, 2010

Dear Chairman Coccodrilli,

After carefully considering the proposed regulations of 7PA Code Chapter 28A, I am asking that you reject the final form regulations. I believe it would be to everyone's advantage if credible research was examined and the Department of Agriculture would resubmit more reasonable and beneficial regulations. If passed, I believe that this Code would cause undue financial stress on small business owners in Pennsylvania who are already pressured in these difficult economic times.

I point particularly to research by HVAC that shows that energy costs alone implementing these new regulations would surpass the income that a facility would generate during the year. If profits decline, many of these quality and professional facilities would be forced to shut down their businesses. In these rough economic times, no one wants to see people put out of business unnecessarily.

Some of the contained mandates, I believe, are not within the statutory authority of the State Department. For example, mandating air conditioning rather than fans to move the air would not be within the Department's authority. Again, the cost factor for some facilities would be insurmountable. Also requiring a maximum Heat Index of 90 within a breeding kennel would result in the death of many puppies which require a higher temperature to survive in their first days.

I ask that you review the research and vote "no" to the proposed regulations. As we all endeavor to maintain our businesses and strive for quality, I believe that reasonable and common sense approach should be taken when drafting regulation by the Department.

Sincerely,

John J. King
448 Jacobus Rd
Narvon Pa 17555