To Whom It May Concern,

As a Pennsylvania Humane Society Piolice Officer, I have seen the conditions in puppy mills in Pa. These regulations are a good start in moving Pa. forward in our treatment of animals. This "cash crop" is not an ear of corn, but a living creature who is damaged for the rest of its life because of the way it is treated as a puppy. The public buys these poor creatures believing they are saving them from the puppy mill operators. They pay too much money and the breeder just breeds more. This has to end. Sincerely, Bethany White
