Subject: Proposed Wood Boiler Regulations

My name is Nikki Dean and I live at 288 Dean Hollow Road Shinglehouse, Pa – Potter County 16748. 814-697-6800. I own 20 acres of land and built a home on this property. I have no neighbors that I can see from any point near my outdoor wood boiler. I built this home in 2008/2009. This wood boiler was purchased because I would NEVER be able to afford to heat my home with propane. Natural gas is not even available for me as an option. Not like I could afford that either though.

How can you propose to have all these regulation put on me when I have no neighbors? These regulations may be Ok for someone living in a town/city with neighbors right next door but in a rural area where I live it is ridiculous!

Apparently who ever proposed these regulations has never been to rural Pennsylvania and has not actually bothered to consider those of us who live there.

As a registered voter of Pennsylvania and an owner of an outdoor wood boiler I am asking you to reconsider these regulations. If you need to implement something on city dwelling people then do it but leave rural Pennsylvania alone.
