

RECEIVED

FEB 2 2010

INDEPENDENT REGULATORY REVIEW COMMISSION

From: Barry Dunmire [badbarry46@yahoo.com]
Sent: Monday, February 01, 2010 8:39 AM
To: EP, RegComments
Subject: outdoor furnaces

I have a furnace which I purchased about 5-6 years ago.. I am not in favor of these changes you guys are proposing. This means I would have to run a smoke stack 20 feet high because of my own home, even though I am in the country and have NO immediate neighbors. By you making us extend the stack, you are making the furnace even more ineffiecient. This will cause the furnace to have a draft, which defeats the purpose of the furnace. I am not in favor of this law. I have freinds which would have to put a stack the size of a windmill up. IMPOSSIBLE. I don't see anyone stopping the destruction of the mountains due to these noisy and unsitely windmills. Typical Big Brother actions. As I said I am not in favor of this change. These furnaces are no different than coal or wood furnaces inside a house which have been used in our communities for ever.

Thanks,

Barry Dunmire
3375 frankstown rd
Portage, PA 15946