REVIEW COMMISSIONSubject: Boiler regulations

We need to make sure these outdoor heating boilers are environmentally sound. We don't want to regulate big power plants only to divert the environmental issues from one large, controllable source of pollution to a thousand dispersed, and uncontrollable sources. Smoke is smoke, and smog is smog. Whether it comes from a large powerplant or a thousand small ones. We can't sacrifice our environment for cheap energy. We need to be more aware than those who came before us. We are now aware of the damage that we can do to our environment, and we must be more responsible than those who came before us, and did not know, or did not care.
