Subject: new restrictions on the use of outdoor wood-fired boilers

do not enstate anymore government restrictions. people who use these are looking for a cheap way to heat their homes. now i know you may have a problem with people living their lives in a free manner, but these people are the farmers and mechanics and lower end of the economic spectrum and this is a viable means of energy for them. any restriction on "HEATING YOUR OWN HOME IS A CONSTITUTIONAL VIOLATION" THANK YOU
