Please stop this proposal, it is a waste of time and effort spent on a problem that has little to no impact on the environment or the community. What will be the next issue, going after wood fireplaces, then natural gas fireplaces, and so on and so on. Many farmers and landowners depend on their outside wood boilers as an economical way to heat their homes. The outside wood boilers are safer than inside wood stoves or fireplaces as the fire is well outside the home and pose little threat.

Thank you for considering my comments.
