INDEPENDENT REGULATORY REVIEW COMMISSION

As a recent purchaser of an outdoor woodburner, I understand the concern of those adversely affected by the burners and I agree that some regulations must be in place to protect them, but I feel it is not in the best interest of those individuals for these regulations to be put into place at a State level. Can we not let these regulations be governed by the individual municipalities? What "works" in one municipality may not necessarily be what "works" in an adjoining municipality. There are too many variables to govern this from a State perspective. Consideration for such regulations should be made based on population, zoning classifications, industry standards, etc.

Please put this obligation for enforcement to the municipalities.
