To whom this may concern:

The reason for this letter is to express my concern about the meter locations and gas regulators that have been placed in front of our historic homes in the Old Allentown District. We take pride in our homes and the neighborhood we reside in. We have guidelines that we must follow in order to keep the preservation and historic façade of our homes. I strongly oppose the proposed location of such meters and regulators because they make our homes look cheap. Please be advised that these meter regulators are on the right-of-way of pedestrians. Recently a car crashed into a home and the regulator was damaged causing evacuations. You can prevent other events from occurring in the future. You must have some common sense and realize that the locations are not the most effective to carry on your work. All we are asking is to consider the location and perhaps re-evaluate other alternatives. That is what you can do. Come see our neighborhood and experience for yourself why we are so proud to live in the Old Allentown District.

I hope you give further consideration for the location of such meters and regulators. I am sure you would not like for someone to come to your house and make it look cheap and ridiculous by placing a gas meter/regulator right in front of your stoop or front basement window. I am sure you all take pride of your property and its surroundings. So do !!

Respectfully,
