To All Willing to Listen, My wife and I have lived all our lives in Western PA. We were born, raised and educated here. Both Univ of Pgh grads. We were not blessed with children but I watch closely what the youth of today are dealing with. I have followed the Common Core issues from other states that have signed on and many are now doing everything they can to get out. Please look past the sales pitch and look at the true mission and impact it will have on the freedom of those who actually live in this great state. We are talking about education and control of what your children will learn and the freedom to achieve and be what they and you want for them. DO YOUR OWN HOMEWORK I believe if you ask the tough questions of those pushing this agenda you will see not is all as it seems with these people. Please just ask the tough questions!
