Message:

Say no to Common Core! It is too expensive for our state. It takes away local control of schools from the school board and parents. We do not need a one size fits all approach to education. Teachers need the ability to make choices that are in the best interest for their students. This approach will not work, is too expensive and removes local ownership of education.

I am concern parent. My child is in a public school that is using common core. When looking through her work that she has been doing. I feel that she has been taking a steps back instead of advancing. I understand that you want all schools to be the same and fair. Well, that is impossible to do. Because life is not fair. You are trying to make Utopian society. Life is not that. With this common core you are setting up these kids to fail. They are unable to deal with tuff situation. Tricia

I feel Common Core will do a huge disservice to our children. The math standards that have already started to be implemented are absurd. I don't know how this program will help our children. It is designed to totally cut parents out of their children's education. The curriculum is written by people who aren't even educators. It is a Federal takeover of education. The Federal Government should not be running our education system. Another issue... How much is this going to cost our state? No one even knows. I pay a huge amount in school tax here, and I want the best for my child. Common Core will crush his desire to learn. I also have a huge problem with the data mining that will occur under Common Core. There is absolutely no reason whatsoever that any educational system should ever be collecting this type of information on our children. Privacy in this day and age is a must. Please completely deny implementation of this monstrosity. What is taught in our schools should be determined by our state by its educators. Not the Federal Government. Please don't take away a parents rights on staying involved in their child's education. Thank you, Kimberly Cratty

I am strongly opposed to the stealth intent of what "Common Core" claims to be all about. Most of us who are aware and not ignorant of the left's agenda to further "dumb down" the curriculum are strongly against what is being cooked up. I will not support Common Core, ever.

I taught in a Pennsylvania public high school, I left the teaching profession because all the fun was sucked out of teaching high school because it was reduced to trying to get my students to do better on the PSSA. Common core curriculum will only make schools worse than they are.

Ref: regulation #6-326 Please know that I do not want my federal tax dollars being used to regulate the public education that our children receive. This is better done at the local level. On every level, federal interference in our education system has produced failure, as it does with any program the Federal Government touches - but then, maybe that's the goal; in which case, it's a success.

I support without reservation full implementation of the proposed Standards and full implementation of mandatory Keystone Exams as a condition of graduation from high school. I am a former School Board Director for the Souderton Area School District and served two years on the the Pennsylvania School Boards Association as well as the Montgomery County IU. I am aware that high numbers of high school graduates require remediation in basic core subjects on entry to college. It is obvious school districts are not enforcing academic rigor. Common Core and related Keystone exams will better assure our high school graduates do in fact deserve a diploma and do meet basic standards.

I do not want Common Core to take over our educational system. Why does the government think they can infringe on parents' rights to be the first teachers of our children? Because to paraphrase Karl Marx, Listen to government not your family. Common Core will replace family values with government requirements and restrictions which are opposed to family values.
