Subject: Common Core concerns

Message:

As a mother of two young elementary age girls, I am very concerned with the state of our schools. Right now, the elementary school they attend is operating over capacity. The middle school they will eventually attend is overcrowded already as well. New developments are bringing in even more students. Our district is going to need to expand in the very near future which is going to cause financial strain. Currently teachers who retire aren't being replaced. It is definitely a tough economy. Implementing the Common Core program is going to add further financial pain. We are a top ranked district. Our education programs are working already. It does not make sense to add financial hardship to something that is not in need of fixing. A one size fits all plan with an unknown budget seems reckless to implement at this time! Thank you for your time, Stefanie
