This initiative has been irresponsibly trusted on our schools without any oversight. As far as I can see this is bad on many fronts. Having served as a school director I resist the plans to eliminate local control. Also, this is definitely not an improvement over what now exists, in fact it is harmful. We don't need a one "one size fits all" approach to education. Individual development of the student is lost and that is what we concentrate on here in WCASD. And financially this is another disaster as no financial analysis was done and we can only guess the huge price tag for implementation. Besides, approving an educational initiative such as this without it going through our elected official is shameful. You must put this monster to sleep! Sincerely, Donna Faunce
