To Whom It May Concern;

I have been notified that the PA Chiropractic State Board is trying to change the law such that fifty percent of Continuing Education credits must be obtained at a live seminar rather than online.

I am jaded in that I believe that someone in the "seminar business" is pushing for this.

I've been a chiropractor for twenty-five years, and I gain no more out of a seminar than an online course.

Let me say that a different way: I gain just as much out of an online course as I do at a seminar.

The only difference is that I save time and money by doing it online.

With online courses:

1. I don't need to rent a room at a hotel
2. I don't have to give up an entire weekend from my busy schedule.
3. I don't have to sign in and out every hour or every break.

I was so happy to finally be able to get my C.E. credits online, and now someone who pushes seminars is going to take that away from me?

Please do not pass 16A-4323 (distance learning)!

Best Regards,

Lawrence DelRe, D.C.
