

Blackburn, Thomas

3068

From: David DeFries [mybackcracker@gmail.com]
Sent: Sunday, August 31, 2014 8:33 PM
To: ST, RegulatoryCounsel
Subject: asynchornous online courses

I strongly object to limitations on the number of CE credits which can be earned online. I have found that I retain more information by learning at my own pace and by reading the material than I do sitting in a cramped room for twelve hours being lectured to. If continuing education is meant to be beneficial to the doctor and thereby the patient, the method of which the education is presented should favor the doctor and not those supplying the material. I ask that you not restrict CE's to archaic practices and embrace the benefits that online education provides.

Dr. David DeFries Jr.
Boothwyn, PA.

--
Dr. David DeFries Jr. D.C.
1520 Meetinghouse Road
Boothwyn, Pa 19061
484-857-PAIN

2014 SEP -5 AM 10:13

RECEIVED
IRRC