I am submitting comments on the proposed change to immunization law. I agree with the changes to the law. I am a school nurse and feel that most people who do not immunize their children are really a bit lazy. They just feel no urgency to comply with the law, and often use the excuse that they think immunizations might cause autism.

I am not sure education will help, as the studies show that parents just do not understand the benefits of mass immunization, not having lived through epidemics of these preventable diseases.

But we do have the need to create "herd immunity" for the benefit of all those who can't get vaccines.

This change will cause a mass revolt however.
