To Whom It May Concern,

With over all conversation with my team of licensed massage therapists, a lot have voiced concerns about an increase in our renewal fee. As we may be happy to hear that the increase of $200 has been removed from the table, there are still concerns about the raise to $125. With such a short notice of an increase there has been many comments, not just among my team, but from other therapists that I have come in contact with that have expressed the thought of not even renewing with the jump. I feel as though if we were given a more sufficient warning that the increase would not be so bad, especially with the holidays quickly approaching.
