This is in reference to #16A-724(IRRC#3263). This is absolutely ridiculous. I am a licensed massage therapist and my husband who is a licensed Physician Assistant pays less for his license than I do. Now what is wrong with this picture. We struggle as a profession as is. From the prices of continuing education classes to finding clients to fulfill our practices. Not everyone works in a spa situation or in an area that is affluent with clientele. I'm sure I'm not the only one that feels this way. With the increases in the prices of everything why don't you just kick us while we're down. What does all that money go toward anyway.
