Hello, I am writing to object to the $125 increase in fee for state licensing. I think it is ridiculous to just hike up our fee so high so quickly. Who expects to ever pay off their debt immediately when one takes out a loan for a car, home, or some kind of repair to one's home for that matter. Is there some time frame stipulation that says that the debt needs to be paid in one year? Some therapists are licensed but are not doing massage full time, yet these people are still demanded upon to take CEU's, CPR, ethics, and Child Abuse training, in addition to this huge hike in fee for licensing? All for the luxury of having a piece of paper for our wall that says that we bow down to our government once again in order for everyone else to make a buck off of what we struggle to keep in our own pockets. Free country my butt. I will be disappointed but not surprised if it goes up. I am not even sure why you have an email address to write to, since I doubt very much that we will even be taken into consideration or taken seriously for that matter. Go ahead, bill me, not much I can do about it but complain in this email. Rights... we have none. I pay for it, or I don't get my license redeemed... not much I CAN do.
