These new regulations are morally bankrupt. They will decrease the quality of care for the sake of being able to cover cases with more, less skilled, people.

BCBA's are leaving PA in droves because of our regulations. We have plenty of colleges, good colleges, with ABA programs. We need to keep these people in our state and make regulations that protect their profession. Other states far worse off than ours already do this. Do we want to have worse autism services than New Jersey? That is SHAMEFUL.
