Increasing the permit fees by $1,500 initially and $1,500 annually seems just absurd. We are living in a state that taxes everything and it's getting to a point that I am embarrassed to say I live in PA. Look at property, gas, sales. I object to this increase as we have always tried to be more competitive as the years go by not just asking for additional money to get us by. So what would this additional money be used for anyway? Just to pay more people for doing less? It's hard enough to make it these days and to impose higher fees – that is simply crazy.

Thanks,
Bryan Preston
