This comment is in regards to the proposed raise to the cost of CAFO permits. I understand the cost of having people to go over an check all of the paper work that comes in, but in our line of business these proposed increases will be detrimental. We have no-one or thing to spread the cost of the permit out to or over our sold product. The dairy business in this country has to operate on a fixed price out of our control with every increase being handed to us eventually there will only be a couple left an even they won't be able to handle the increases of everything forever.
