Pennsylvania participation in "CO2 Budget Trading Program (#7-559) appears to nothing more than a means to tax Pennsylvanians and limit Pennsylvanians ability to utilize resources personally owned by them by deed. Does Governor Wolf intend to compensate those individuals whose property rights have been terminated by his administration?
Global warming is not the real issue. Too many people fighting over limited resources such as power, water, space, food, ect., is the real issue. The climate has been changing since the last ice age. "Alleged" experts claim to be able to stop a natural phenomenon. Taxes will come; climate change will continue. Talk to the Chinese first then talk to me.
