It is past time to look to the future needs of our state. The effects of careless and thoughtless human life can no longer be tolerated.

Looking past to the industrial revolution, we see unrestricted use of finite natural resources and disposal of left over waste. This waste includes human lives and health. With knowledge and science, the uncontrolled discard for the natural environment can no longer be tolerated. Now we must look to and take action for the future environment and human lives.

Restrictions on human activity relative to its impact on nature as well as choice in the type of energy used needs to be made now. We all must sacrifice some for the future.

I firmly support the carbon reduction program as a step to recognition our responsibility for the future. We must leave the planet better for the future. We have to start now.
