I think joining the RGGI would be devastating to pennsylvania period.It would hurt the Government,the work force in all energy sectors,and the people that will pay higher for everything because the expense will be passed on to them.I understand you want to cut emissions but it will just increase costs for us because states that aren't members of the RGGI will just produce more and we will have to purchase from them.Their is no way that you can convert to clean energy fast enough to defray what it will cost Pennsylvania residents.So please use your heads and hearts to not join and maybe some day you can slowly convert to clean energy without hurting the people that pay your wages.
Thank You
