I'm opposed to a carbon tax. As alternative energy continues to make progress under a free market system, let's not stifle innovation by taxing the system whereby ultimately the consumer pays the price. Let's stay energy independent and let the free market take its course. Look at BEV market, innovation is continuously bringing the cost down to the point that BEVs will be more than competitive with ICE vehicles and then who wouldn't want to own one.
No to a Carbon Tax.
