I am definitely opposed to Governor Wolf's plan for Pennsylvania to join the Regional Greenhouse Gas Initiative (RGGI). Joining this consortium would raise energy bills for consumers and make our state's energy industry less competitive with neighboring states. PA businesses have already suffered immense losses this year because of Governor Wolf's Covid restrictions. We are quickly reaching a point where businesses cannot survive in PA because of all the regulations. The choice for them becomes clear ---- Close the doors or GO ELSEWHERE! If they choose to go elsewhere, how many good-paying jobs with good benefits are our young people going to lose? When will we reach the point where we think about someone else's well-being and ability to raise a family? When will we stop depending on big government to control every facet of our lives every waking moment? When do we stop thinking about the environment yet again and start thinking about people and their ability to make a living here in PA? When is enough regulation just ENOUGH? I, for one, have had enough.
