Dear Lori Gutierrez:

I have learned about the proposed regulations for nursing homes and find them not suitable. I live in a Continuing Care facility, Foulkeways at Gwynedd, where nursing services are very important for the residents who need them. Any number of my friends have benefitted from the amazing care of our nursing staff who give such personal attention to each person. In the ending stage of life, nothing could be more important than compassionate care by qualified staff.

I am concerned that the proposed regulations are being imposed on nursing facilities like ours that receive no federal support. It seems counter-productive to add layers of regulation that will not benefit the individuals in nursing care and will add to the expense of running our community.

Please reconsider the issuing of these regulations.

Sincerely,
Gretchen T. Hall
