The public school system has been failing our children for years. The school board pays no mind to the parents and make mandates and approve behavior that is in direct conflict with family autonomy.

If the public school system chose to act in a manner that empowered families and provided a satisfactory education to our children, charter schools wouldn't be a factor.

The public system is broken and they do not deserve our money. The board neglects the parents and implements curriculum that is anti-American and when the parents stand up, we are called racist. If the public schools system wished to stay relevant, they would innovate and work to provide a more conducive environment for the families in their district.

If a business does not provide a good product or good service to customers, their customers will go elsewhere and the business can innovate or they will go out of business. The same is happening to public schools.

Do not change the charter policy!
